APRIL EVENT

The Boston Chapter of Legatus
Welcomes Legatus Founder,
Tom Monaghan

Tom Monaghan's early childhood was a true test of endurance. His father died on Christmas Eve when he was only four years old. Tom's mother couldn't support his brother Jim and himself on her salary of only $27.50 per week so she decided to put the two brothers into a foster home. Reading the boyhood story of how Abraham Lincoln, a poor farm boy from Illinois worked hard and became President of the United States inspired Tom to dream big. He also read the Ward's and Sears' catalogues and dreamed about having not the good, or the better, but the best. Tom attended the seminary which didn't work out. He was always a hard worker though. In 1960, Tom and his brother Jim borrowed $900 to buy a pizzeria named Dominick's in Ypsilanti, Michigan. A year later, Tom bought out his brother by trading his Volkswagen Beetle for Jim's half of the business. Tom's success certainly did not happen overnight. For Tom, the real substance of life and work is in a constant battle to excel. He states, "I believe that my faith has attributed to my goals in life. I have five priorities in life and they are: spiritual, social, mental, physical and financial. These priorities have guided me and hopefully will continue to do so."
